

THEMATIC WORKSHOP

“Biopolymers and biomaterials for packaging and goods”

Date: 12th of October 2017, 9:30 – 16:00

Venue: Lodz University of Technology, International Faculty of Engineering (IFE; A16), Aula
36 Żwirki Street, Lodz, Poland

Preliminary program

09:00 – 09:30 Registration

09:30 – 09:40 Welcome and opening

Prof. Stanisław Bielecki – PTPB, Lodz University of Technology, Lodz, Poland

09.40 – 10.40 SuperBIO support for SMEs

SuperBIO – Innovation services to boost your business through biobased innovation

Dr. Stefan Ruyters, FBBV, Belgium

Bio Base Europe Pilot Plant, turning grams into tonnes

Dr. Lieve Hoflack, Bio Base Europe Pilot Plant, Belgium

Transforming Innovation into Market Success - BCNP's Innovation services within SuperBIO

Dr. Tobias Kirchhoff, BCNP Consultants GmbH, Germany

10:40 – 11:00 Coffee break and networking

11:00 – 12:10 Biopolymers and biomaterials for packaging and goods (part I)

Challenges in implementation of biopolymers and biomaterials in packaging sector

Prof. Artur Bartkowiak – West Pomeranian University of Technology, Szczecin, Poland

What is sustainable packaging and how to assess it?

M. Sc. Eng. Konrad Nowakowski, Head of Packaging and Environment Department, COBRO – Packaging Research Institute, Warsaw, Poland

12.10 – 13.15 Lunch and networking

13.15 – 16.00 Biopolymers and biomaterials for packaging and goods (part II)

TECNARO, Germany – tbc

Bioresorbable fibrous materials with shape memory effect

Prof. Izabella Krucińska - Lodz University of Technology, Lodz, Poland

Pro-ecological packaging materials containing substances of plant origin

Dr. Anna Masek – Lodz University of Technology, Lodz, Poland

Institute of Biopolymers and Chemical Fibres, Lodz, Poland – tbc

Application of renewable materials for the production of biocomposites

M. Sc. Eng. Aleksandra Grzqbka-Zasadzińska – Poznan University of Technology, Poznan, Poland

Applications of bacterial cellulose in food and food packaging

Dr. Przemysław Rytczak – Lodz University of Technology, Lodz, Poland

Implementation of innovations in industrial practice

Dr. Marcin Wątrobiński, SyntPlant Ltd, Poznan, Poland

Bionanopark – a place where business meets science

Dr. Krzysztof Makowski, BioNanoPark-Science and Technology Park, Lodz, Poland

[Title]

Dorota Hubka-Wójcik – Foundation Malopolska Technology Transfer Centre, Krakow, Poland

SuperBIO is funded by the research and innovation programme 'Horizon 2020' of the European Union under the Grant Agreement no. 691555 for the period from 01.06.2016 to 30.11.2018.

